The flexibility to meet your requirements

Amethyst's data recovery services are available for large volume, long-term service level agreements and for one-off single device analysis. Our team is on hand to discuss your specific requirements and to explain the options relevant to your needs.

Amethyst's data recovery services

We offer a wide range of expert data recovery services from the extraction of data to evidential standards for use in civil or criminal prosecutions, right through to the recovery of important data from failed or damaged devices.

At Amethyst we perform data recovery to an evidential standard on a wide range of electronic devices using leading forensic products.

The consultants on our forensics team are all fully certified in the use of the forensic equipment employed. They all have security clearance and are experts in handling sensitive and protectively marked material.

Amethyst has a team permanently engaged on-site with a high profile UK police force, providing critical data recovery services that support major criminal investigations. Such services are fully compliant with the ACPO guidelines relating to computer-based electronic evidence.

Amethyst can perform data recovery on a range of electronic devices.

These include:

Data Storage Devices

- Computer Drives
- Memory Cards
- Memory Sticks

Mobile Devices

- Mobile Telephone Handsets
- SIM Cards
- Smartphones

Other Devices

- Digital Cameras
- Personal Data Assistants
- Satellite Navigation Devices
